

Speech, Movie, Dance Head Education College Seminar

Future teachers will have an opportunity next Thursday to view their field in one day of seminars, discussions and speeches. The Education College Vocations Day will begin with a luncheon at the University for representatives of each Omaha P-TA and the Council Bluffs P-TA Council.

Parents are especially invited to attend the session. Dr. L. O. Taylor, professor of education, stated, "Parents should feel that teaching is a fine profession, and encourage their own children to take interest."

Hill Will Speak

Speaking at the luncheon will be Fred Hill, assistant superintendent of schools. Hill will emphasize the need for teachers in his talk. "Why I like Teaching" will be voiced by Mrs. Jean Stepp, teacher at Walnut Hill School. Two University of Omaha students, Ralph Pettit, secondary physical education, and Dixie Clark, elementary education, will describe teaching from the Student teacher point of view.

High School Seniors Attend

All high school seniors interested in teaching will be guests of the Future Teachers of American organization at a dance from 4 to 6 p. m. in the Student Center. All Education students are invited.

Student committee members are Pat Cosford, Hannah Schuerman, Jean Schmidt, Beverly Pace and Maynard Tattleman.

Faculty committee members are Miss Frances Wood, Mr. Taylor, Ernie Gorr, and Miss Vera Duerchner.

This is the fourth Vocations activity this semester.

Park Department To 'Lower Boom' Monday on OU Parking Violators

Money Lack Takes Gateway Toll

Money is scarce around the Gateway office. Therefore with much regret, we are forced to publish four four-page issues of the Gateway. There will be five four-page issues and five eight-page papers from now until the end of the semester.

The Gateway staff will continue to cover the important events happening on campus. However lack of space will hinder detailed coverage.

'No Parking' Signs Will Warm Students Before Officials Tag $3 Fines on Cars

The Omaha Parks and Recreation Department will begin fining students Monday morning for parking on both sides of the Elmwood Park road. Ralph McClintock, head of the department, announced that "no parking" signs will be posted on one side of the road only. Students may park on the other side. Violators will be fined $3.

This move by the Omaha Park department was prompted by thawing ground. "The cars are tearing up the grass in the park, and also hindering clear passage on the park road," said Charles Hoff, vice-president in charge of finances. "Mr. McClintock is doing his utmost to co-operate with the University in solving the parking problem, but he must take care of the park grounds."

Use Fieldhouse

Dean Jay MacGregor urges students to use the Fieldhouse parking lot. These lots have a capacity of 450 cars, but have attracted no more than 30 student automobiles at any one time.

Bob Kragh, Gateway reporter, timed his walk from the Fieldhouse to the University. "It takes just as long to walk from the lower road as from the Fieldhouse. And there's no mud," he said.

Parking Ramp and Fee?

The parking situation at the University is growing more critical. "What I would really like to see," said Hoff, "is a parking ramp similar to the one at the Livestock Exchange Building. However it would have to be self-supporting. Whether the students would pay a small parking fee, rather than walk over from the Fieldhouse, is to be seen."

Startling Totals

One morning's 8:30 tally of cars in the various lots around the University brought these totals: Lower road, 144 cars with 15 parked facing the wrong way. Farther down the road in the park, 10 cars were parked. On the grassy area between the road leading to the Fieldhouse and the lower parking lot behind the school were six more cars. This violates the University parking rules stating "Driving or parking on grass prohibited."

Two cars blocked the exit to the lower lot and 16 were bogged down in the mud west of the lower parking lot.

Student drivers have little consideration for their fellow students. Cars are parked just far enough away from each other to prevent another car from being parked. Closer parking would allow at least 20 more cars in the lower parking lot.

Staff Finishes '53 Tomahawk

"Hallelujah!"

That is what Larry Boersma, editor of the 1953 Tomahawk said Saturday.

"The yearbook is finished, and we beat the deadline by one day," he added.

The '53 book will be 256 pages, the biggest annual in the history of the University. The book will also sport a padded cover and a student index. The student index will be a list of the names of every student who appears in the book. Following the names will be two page numbers where the student's picture appears. Burt McMillan is in charge of the index.

Although the staff missed their 75 percent deadline by two weeks, they finished on schedule. "The total number of pages in last year's Tomahawk equalled our 75 percent quota," said Boersma.

The book will be distributed May 11.

Dan Langevin, editor of the 1954 Tomahawk, has already completed some of his layouts. Langevin is getting an early start on his book.

OU Press Club Chooses Houser

"On to Detroit!"

This is the cry of the OU Press Club. Members of the club have entered a turtle in the "Turtle Trudge" sponsored by the journalism fraternity at the University of Detroit.

The contest will be held April 24-27 in Detroit.

At the club's meeting last Wednesday, Corinne Houser was picked as the Press Club's candidate for "Turtle Trudge" queen. Rae Johnson is in charge of "obtaining" a turtle entry for the club.

The contest is open to all journalism organizations on campus throughout the country.

Officers Change Inspection Date

The Air Force ROTC inspection will be held April 27 and 28, announced Maj. Robert Whaley of the ROTC staff. The inspection was changed from Mar. 23 and 24.

The Military Ball will be a colorful presentation this year. In addition to the traditional Grand March of the ROTC cadets and the Angels' Flight, intermission ceremonies will also include the Colonel's Chorus, Angels' Trio, Cadets' Quartet, Angelettes and Angelaires. The Angelettes is a precision marching-dancing group of 14 Angels. The Angelaires will sing. Jodie Pierce is directing the 12 members of the chorus.

Debaters Erdkamp, Bednar Win First in NIFA Tourney

The debate team of Sharon Erdkamp and Jean Bednar walked off with a big prize at the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association's tournament. The tournament was held at Omaha University Friday and Saturday.

Erdkamp and Bednar won first place in the Women's A division in debate by winning five out of their six rounds. The subject in question was the advisability of a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Ma-ie Day Float Skit Plans Due Next Friday

Organizations planning to enter skits and floats in the Ma-ie Day activities must turn their first and second ideas for each into the Dean of Students. These must be registered by next Friday, at 3 p. m.

The Student Council also requests the name and telephone number of the chairman of each event. Rules governing the parade and skit show will be sent to each entering group.

In case of duplication in ideas, the first theme received will be accepted.

The annual student holiday will be held May 8. Festivities will begin with an early morning breakfast, presentation of the princess and the parade. Afternoon activity will consist of individual skits by campus organizations. The 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. dance will climax the holiday. The winning floats and skits will be announced at the dance intermission.

Gloria Johnson, Chi Omega, was last year's Ma-ie Day Princess.

The only superior rating in the Women's A division of the discussion section also went to Erdkamp. J. D. Tyson, OU debate coach, stated that he was "very proud of her well deserved victory" and that her superior rating resulted from "ability to integrate her comments with the group thinking and focus on a mutually acceptable solution to the problem of combating Communism."

Radcliffe, Welch "Excellent"

In other sections of the tournament, Lew Radcliffe received an excellent rating in the Men's B division of the discussion section. Arlyss Welch won an excellent rating in the Women's B division of discussion.

Seven Nebraska colleges and universities won ratings in the tournament. Nine schools participated. Those receiving ratings were Omaha University, Creighton University, Hastings College, Midland College, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Kearney State Teachers College, and Wayne State Teachers College.

J. D. Tyson confers with Nebraska Debate champions, Jean Bednar and Sharon Erdkamp.

OU Vocal Group Presents Sunday Singing Program

Twenty-one OU singers will take part in an original works program at the Paxton Hotel Ballroom Sunday. The program is sponsored by the Nebraska Music Teachers Association.

The part-songs composed by Omaha music instructor, C. Ruskin Sandbourne, are arranged for men's and women's voices.

The first three songs, "Elfin Love Song," "My Autumn Time" and "Garden Hymn," will be sung in the following parts: first sopranos, Dorothy Ruby, Marian Tyndale and Ruth Waschinek; second sopranos, Pat Kavan, Jeanne Killian, Barbara Murray and Joyce Sundsboe. Altos are Sandra Bock, Monica Fokken, Mary Joe Lasell and Jo Anne Pierce.

The songs for men's voices are "My Autumn Rose," "Let's Sing" and "Nano." Tenors are Jack Bourdese, Harlande Lantz and Mike Watanabe. James Felton, Harlan Peterson, Steve Schwid and Terry Young will sing baritone. Basses include Robert Edson, Philip Kaus and Fred Hendricks.

Richard H. Brewer, OU director, will sing the "Dramatic Aria from Don Carlos," by Verdi, on the evening program.

On Saturday the University will be host to the Nebraska Music Teachers Association annual convention.

Dr. Robert Fiester, music instructor at OU, will preside at a 7 p. m. smorgasbord which will be preceded by a reception in the Student Lounge.

The N.M.T.A. Professional Concert will be presented at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium.

Grad to Give June Sermon

President Milo Boil announced the baccalaureate speaker this week. He is retired Rear Admiral Stanton W. Salisbury, former chief of chaplains of the U. S. Navy.

Salisbury will give the baccalaureate sermon on his fortieth anniversary of graduation from Omaha U. He has many "firsts" to his credit concerning the school.

Enrolled in the first class, 1909, Salisbury was on the first basketball team, the first football team, in the first play and in the first fraternity. He graduated with the first four-year class in 1913.

Salisbury served as an Army or Navy chaplain for more than 30 years. He was promoted to Rear Admiral in September of 1949 and placed in charge of all Navy chaplains.

Salisbury was honored at the first Alumni Association Achievement Banquet in 1949. At that time he was presented with a scroll and an Honorary Degree as Doctor of Laws.

The baccalaureate service is scheduled for May 31.

University Choir Displays Robes

The University choir appeared for the first time in public in their new robes on WOW-TV Tuesday night.

They sang a 15-minute program of Easter music. Among the numbers presented were "Beautiful Savior," with Soloist Joan Pierce, and "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past," featuring Terry Young.

The program closed with a choral benediction.

Greeks Complete Project on Time

"OU Greeks are finishing the Help Week project on schedule," said Howard Olson, president of the Interfraternity Council and Greek Week chairman, this morning. "The house looks great, and the members who pitched in and helped can be very proud," he added.

About 175 Greeks participated in the Help Week activity. The students painted walls, hung screens, repaired floors and furniture, and washed floors and walls of the Martha T. Smith Home for the Aged.

The owners of the home were very appreciative of the help the Greeks gave them. The second annual Greek Week Help Week banquet will be tonight. The dance tomorrow night will end the Greek activities.

Goeser Resigns From OU Faculty

Alvin Goeser, professor of Business Administration, has resigned from the Omaha University faculty. The resignation becomes effective June 1.

Goeser will be Director of Public Relations at the World Insurance Company of Omaha. He has been with the O.U. faculty for the past 7 years teaching human relations and business communications.

Goeser has also directed letter-writing clinics for several Omaha business firms.

Professors Entertain On English Recorders

Two OU professors and their wives have proven that they enjoy entertaining students and the public as well as teaching them.

The two professors are Dr. Leslie N. Garlough, professor of Biology, and Herbert Berry, instructor of English. The two men with their wives present musical consorts on English recorders.

There is an interesting history of recorders. Perhaps the best description of the instrument would be that if it were turned sideways it would be played like a flute.

The instrument is made of either wood or plastic and has to be warmed up before it will play. The instrument can be dismantled into three parts.

The history of the recorder dates back to the 16th and early part of the 17th centuries in England. The instrument is strictly of English origin and only in the last few years has the instrument regained its popularity. The fad for playing the recorder began in England about 1924 and has spread to the United States in the last 10 years. According to Berry, "it is a rather sophisticated fad in the U. S."

Each of the quartet play a different-sized instrument. Berry plays the tenor recorder which is smallest. Mrs. Garlough plays the alto or treble which is slightly larger than the tenor. Mrs. Berry plays the soprano descant which is still larger, and Dr. Garlough plays the bass, the largest of the instruments.

The instrument was not made to be used as a concert instrument but for parlor music for the sole enjoyment of the family. It is too woody and will not carry far enough for concert presentations. It has a full rich tone similar to the cello.

Two weeks ago, the quartet performed at a meeting of the English honorary, The Club.

Mabel, Oscar Happy Couple

By Dean King

Have you met that world-famous college couple, Oscar and Mabel? If you've taken psychology at Omaha University any time since 1932, you've met them.

Oscar and Mabel were born in 1932 and have been the most talked about couple in the university. Oscar is a playboy, the man about the campus, and Mabel is the college beauty queen, and also, Oscar's sweetheart.

Dr. William D. Thompson, professor of psychology, smiled as he remarked about the fame of the couple he originated and made famous, which he uses to express another point in a psychology lecture.

Former students of Dr. Thompson's psychology classes have aided in the widespread popularity of the pair. The psychology professor has met people nationwide, former students and strangers, who have asked him how Oscar and Mabel are, and he has received letters and telegrams from newly-married couples, signed Oscar and Mabel.

Servicemen spread the fame even farther, to the far corners of the world. A navy man once sent Dr. Thompson a miniature statue of a sailor, called Oscar. A submarine mascot, a fictitious girl, goes under the name of Mabel.

As time goes on, their reputation will continually grow—from the mind of Dr. Thompson to the minds of psychology students and to the minds of others.

Busy Guy Greek Week Chairman . . .

Howard Olson, President of Interfraternity Council and over-all chairman of Greek Week, will breathe the proverbial sigh of relief as Help Week closes today. The Greeks agree that he has done a fine job of organizing.

Sales Work

Howard is a senior whose major is Business Administration. If any organization finds itself short of funds this year, they can blame Howie. As Treasurer of Student Council last year, he figured this year's budget. He is member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership society, and the Warriors. "H," as he is often called, aims to, "go into sales work."

Before Howard can pursue a sales managing position however, he has to "donate" some time to Uncle Sam. An Army reservist, he is scheduled to leave July 1st.

Howard Olson . . . Interfraternity president.

Until then, Howard intends to golf, play tennis, swim, and enjoy his greatest love, eating. Preferably, roast beef, mashed potatoes, and gravy. He had, "no comment on temperance." At Fort Benjamin Harrison last summer, Howie forgot to salute a full Colonel and "really got told."

Sig Ep

Howard is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He has been elected president of his pledge class, and secretary, and treasurer of the fraternity. He enjoys playing Intra-Mural sports for Sig Ep, but says he is "very much an amateur."

Howard says that, "The best four years I've had I've enjoyed at O. U." . . . Pat.

AF Definitions Made Simple

The meanings of various phrases used by the Air Force greatly differ with regular vocabulary definitions. In order that students and personnel may better understand Air Force lingo, some of the more common statements are printed below.

CONCUR GENERALLY: Have not read the named document, and do not want to be bound by anything I might say.

IN CONFERENCE: Don't know where he is.

KINDLY EXPEDITE: For goodness sake, try to find the papers.

PASSED TO HIGHER AUTHORITY: Pigeon-holed in a more sumptuous office.

The vocabulary lesson will be continued in the next issue.

Sweater Debaters . . .

Debate Coach J. D. Tyson is to be congratulated for securing the key to winning debate tourneys.

Prior to the state tourney, Tyson telephoned the four competing coeds and suggested that the girls appear in sweaters.

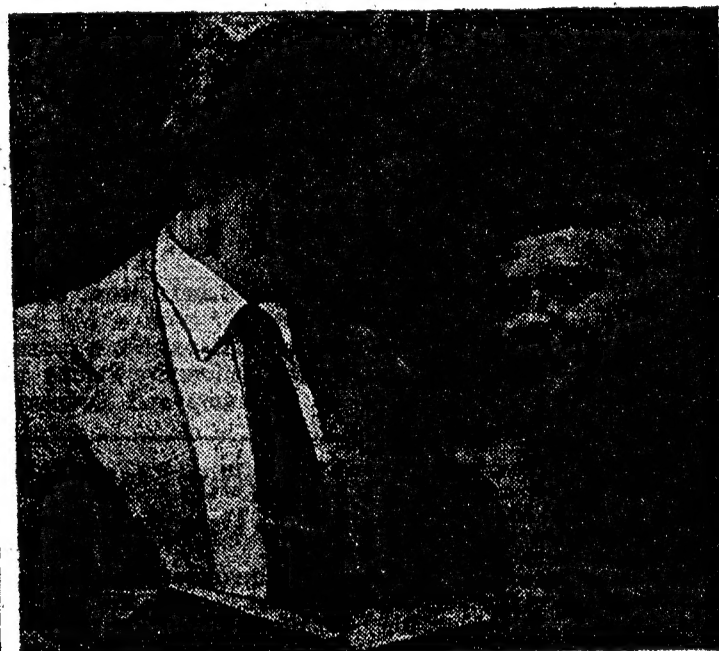

The girls wore sweaters and walked off with first place in debate and discussion.

There once sat a roommate named Lester,
Whose knowledge grew lesser and lesser.

It at last grew so small,
He knew nothing at all.
And now he's a college professor.

Indian Trackmen Run Over Doane

Omaha University trackmen won their second straight meet last Tuesday, downing Doane, 89 2/3 to 19 1/3. Coach Ernie Gorr's cindermen placed first in every event and surprised the crowd of 300 by sweeping the 80-yard low hurdles.

Bill Barnes won the lows shattering the meet record as well as tying the fieldhouse mark in 7.2 seconds. He was followed by Bob Gerdeman and Bob Barnes, still also scored in the broadjump.

Jerry Tannahill was first with a 30-ft. 5 3/4-inch jump, but Bill, who had never seriously thought of broadjumping, leaped 20 feet, 3 3/4 inches.

Larsen Takes 440

Wayne Larsen once again beat Bernie Lainsen in the 440 by a scant yard or two. The fight for first place between these two promises to be one of the most interesting rivalries of the season.

Tuesday, Larsen got off to a fast start and stayed ahead of the pack all the way. Lainsen was caught in a box on two consecutive curves and had to sprint hard the last 70 yards in his vain effort to catch the fast-moving Larsen.

The highlight of the evening took place in the high jump. Roger Dumbier started off the meet by winning over Doane's Clarence Cook and Don Ward. He then proceeded to break the meet record and then went on to clip the fieldhouse mark with a sensational 6-ft. 11 1/2-inch leap.

Marks Will Take Beating

In other events, Joe Nalty won the 60-yard dash handily; Bill Barnes copped the 60-yard high hurdles; Mel Decker took first in both the mile and the two-mile runs, and Larry Johnson threw the shotput 42 feet, 6 1/4 inches.

The Indian sprint and mile relay teams won with ease to close the evening activities.

Gorr, obviously pleased with the efforts of his charges, said, "We have so many outstanding individuals that the team should make an outstanding record this year. Many of the school marks will take a beating."

Lambda Chi Tops Mural Bowl League

Lambda Chi moved into first place in the Intramural Bowling League Mar. 12 by capitalizing on a forfeit by the former league leaders, ISA. They now have a two-game lead.

Gard Anderson led Pi K A. to two victories over improving Phi Epsilon. Anderson was high man for the day with a series of 512. He also had the individual high game with a 181.

Sigma Phi Epsilon took advantage of a forfeit by the ROTC. The three wins moved them into fourth place. At one time they were deep in the cellar of the league.

Theta Chi was given a bye.

Baseball Practice Sees 37 Hopefuls

Thirty-seven diamond candidates worked on conditioning exercises this week in preparation for the oncoming baseball season. The official practice sessions began last Monday. The total number of candidates is expected to rise to 50.

Because of the large squad, there will be two teams this year—the varsity team and the B team. Bob Moscrey will coach the reserves.

All men who want to play ball are urged to try out. The entire squad will work out together for the next couple of weeks. The first and second teams will not be selected until several intra-squad games have been played.

Varsity Coach Virg Yelkin announced that he is anxious to have all men with pitching ability try out. The team has a shortage of experienced hurlers.

Sig Kaps Lead Women's Bowling

Sigma Kappa gained title of the Women's Intramural Bowling League this week. The titleholders have won 47 games, lost 18.

Chi Omega holds high team game with 556 points and high team series with 1,556 points.

Sigma Kappa's Donna Hayes won high individual series with 439 points, while Ruth Longville, Chi Omega, took high individual game with 170 points.

OU Tallies 66 Points To Win Mar. 12 Meet

Nine meet and two indoor track records were shattered Mar. 12 as the University Indians ran away from Wayne State Teachers, Nebraska Wesleyan and Midland.

The day's tallies showed 66 points for OU, 49 1/2 for Wayne, 17 for Wesleyan and 14 1/2 for Midland. The Indians were at a definite advantage over the other schools because they have had a fieldhouse in which to train, while the other schools had to train out of docks or make the best of inadequate indoor facilities.

Two upsets occurred during the afternoon. Rod Washington, former Central High Ace and now a standout at Nebraska Wesleyan beat Joe Nalty in the 60-yard dash finals in 6.5 seconds.

Wayne Larsen put on a last lap sprint finish to barely beat Bernie Lainsen in the 440-yard dash. His time of 53.5 seconds was a meet record. Lainsen, undaunted by one second place, shattered the 880 meet time with a 2:06.6 half mile.

Another battle took place in the hurdles. Bob and Bill Barnes were the main guns for OU. Bill broke the high hurdle record with a 7.9 seconds time. Don Groulik of Wayne copped the lows and also the meet record in 7.9 seconds.

Jerry Tannahill took the meet broadjump record with 21 feet and

Women's Rifle Team Remains Unbeaten

Omaha University's women's rifle team remained undefeated by turning back a bid by the North Side girls on Mar. 12 with a score of 808 to 744.

Ruth Longville led the coeds with a score of 168 out of a possible 200. Janet Anderson was close behind with a 164 average.

But the outstanding marksman of the day was North High's Sandra Sitten. She fired a blazing 200 out of a possible 200.

Other OU girls that fired well were Kay Harrington, Joan Sedlacek, Marianne Bowley, Gayle Anderson and Jo Thorson. All the girls had good scores, ranging from 150 to as high as 168.

The girls have coming matches with Benson and Central. They are trying to get a match with Creighton. Jo Thorson is still trying to get postal matches with other colleges, but nothing definite has been arranged.

1 inch, and Roger Dumbier copped the highjump with 5 feet and 10 1/4 inches.

Chesterfield is Best for YOU!

CHESTERFIELD contains tobaccos of better quality and higher price than any other king-size cigarette... the same as regular Chesterfield.

Chesterfield — first premium quality cigarette in both regular & king-size

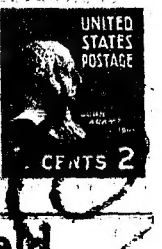

WHEN you are asked to try a cigarette you want to know, and you ought to know, what that cigarette has meant to people who smoke it all the time.

For a full year now, a medical specialist has given a group of Chesterfield smokers thorough examinations every two months. He reports:
